Giving the power back to the content creators

At Entthink we believe there are solutions to make your organization's knowledge work for your customers and users. We excel in finding solutions that bridge the complexities of technology with the expectations of the living, breathing person that uses it.

Today's web strategies must find effective ways to govern content, with the growing demand of Content Management the need to simplify the processes and minimize administrator involvement, lower costs and speeding up delivery are paramount.

Workflow Manager is an easy way to deal with building and applying workflows and authorization packages without any administrative involvement. Using a simple and intuitive interface, authors and editors can build or apply pre-built workflows and authorization packages to each page that is created in CMS.

Key benefits include the ability to:

- Build or apply workflow and authorization packages without an administrator
- Increase the speed to build or apply workflow and authorization packages by up to 95%
- Remove the need to predesign workflows and authorization packages
- Eliminate errors
- Create ad hoc workflows
- Lower cost of development and maintenance
- Leverage the existing RedDot security model
- Maintain full administrative control over which authors can access which workflows or what new workflows can be created
